Building African Women's & Youth Movements and Forming International Sisterhood

What kind of Organization is Necessary?

1. We need organization that is permanent because it guarantees that the struggle will continue beyond the current phase. We must plan for generations ahead with the understanding that our development spans forever.
2. We need organization that is capable of mass mobilization, which is necessary to keep the energies of the people working for the right objectives.
3. We need organization that recognizes the proper role of women at the forefront of the movement along with men.
4. We need organization that educates the people as to what we are fighting for, what we are fighting against and WHY.
5. We need organization that is in the interest of Africa and led by Africans.
6. We need organization that is revolutionary because it seeks a total transformation of society from the backwards way of having a privileged few who own and control almost everything to a new kind of society where there is no exploitation of the masses of the people.
7. We need organization that supports allies and brother-sister organizations, that believe in the same principles, and which struggles for justice and the return of stolen land.
8. We need organization that allows for us to correctly interpret the true nature of our oppression and how it affects the political, economic and cultural reality of our lives.
9. We need organization that is self-sufficient economically.
10. We need organization that requires day-to-day sacrifice from its membership.
11. We need organization that is strong enough to withstand the enemy's onslaught of intelligence and espionage.
12. We need organization that is Pan-Africanist, which has as its objective the liberation of Africa from all foreign domination, and corrupt uncle-tom leadership.
13. We need organization that is for Scientific Socialism where there is no exploitation and the masses are in control of society.
14. We need organization that is global which seeks to organize all Africans throughout the world wherever we happen to be.
15. We need organization, which focuses on political education, which is necessary for understanding each phase of history, the past, the present and the future and to build on the good and to minimize the bad. We must educate each other by teaching, encouraging, instructing, mentoring, praising, influencing, guiding, inspiring, enlighten, engaging, respecting, and most of all loving.
16. We need organization that trains its members to organize and educate prospective members.
17. We need organization that integrates with the people so well that you cannot tell where the people end and the organization begins.
18. We need organization that unleashes the creative energies, of all the people, the women, the men and the youth.

19. We need organization that works for the unification of Africa into one nation.
20. We need organization that develops a cadre of people who are good at uniting and organizing the people, who are unselfish and who put the interests of the people first.
21. We need organization that is democratic with a strong, centralized, collective leadership, with iron discipline and cohesion and which is bold in making criticism and self-criticism.
22. We need organization that is political, and successful in our struggle for power because there is a direct relationship between power and organization. Those who are the most organized have power. Those who are the least organized are the most powerless.
